The Business Way!

The business way to success is to take space by the year, take pains with your advertisements in making them attractive, and change them at least as often as once a month.

You may think there are seasons when you don't need to advertise.

We have never seen that time.

Use the dull seasons for looking over your stock and running off that which is becoming out of style or unfashionable, and giving bargains.

If you have space by the year, it costs you no more, and you can make it profitable by converting unsaleable goods into money, and reinvesting the money in those things which are salable.

Where is That Banner Now?

Greenberg (Ind.) Review.—During the last campaign the banner of the city was displayed in their processions leading to the polls.

VOTE FOR GROVER CLEVELAND AND GET $15 A QUARTER FOR YOUR BREATH.

A liberal reward will be paid for that banner at this office, and no questions asked.

INDIANA farmers voted for GROVER and $15 a quart. They got GROVER.

REPUBLICAN DOCTRINES: A pure ballot, honest money and Protection to home industries.

Mr. VAN ALLEN's indignant denial that he has declined his appointment leaves Mr. CLEVELAND still resting in his uncomfortable cavity.

The fact remains that VAN ALLEN did make a large subscription, and the evidence seems to be pretty clear that he did not make it without an object.

This looks like a Republican year in Massachusetts. Ditto in New York and Iowa. The only doubt in Ohio is as to the size of the Republican majority.

AUSTRALIA'S financial convulsion began before ours did, and while the evil effects of ours are nearly all passed, the situation in Australia is fully as bad as it was last April and May.

THE TROOPS

Start For the Battle-Field in Morocco.

The Moorish Tribes Continue to Fire on Fort San Miguel.

The Gunboat Cuervo Fired Upon by the Moors Returns the Fire and Many Tribesmen Are Killed and Wounded.—The Cabo-los Erecting Earthworks.

MARSHAL, Oct. 8.—A large body of troops left this city Sunday for the front, Melilla, in Morocco, being their objective point. The approach to the railroad station were densely packed with people, who frantically cheered the departing soldiers.

Another company has been ordered to Melilla, and almost at the same hour news reached here Sunday evening that the gun-boat Cuervo, which has been shelling the piratical haunts on the Riff coast near Melilla, has reached Malaga with dispatches from Gen. Margelio, requesting that no further reinforcements be sent to Melilla for the present.

The general reports that the Moorish tribes continue to fire at intervals upon Fort San Miguel, the fire having been taken from the neighboring heights. Saturday evening Gen. Margelio adds the Moors fired into Melilla, a bullet from the heights lodging in the governor's house.

When the Cuervo left Melilla, the commanding general of the station, he was fired upon from Tree Forces. The gunboat promptly returned the fire, and a regular engagement followed, during which many of the tribesmen were killed and numbers were wounded. The Cabyles outside of and near Melilla have erected extensive earthworks, and seem to be preparing for a regular siege and to resist a strong effort to drive them away.

They are receiving reinforcements hourly and are increasing in vicinity every day, and a spirit of war is over all. Margelio needs no further reinforcements, being certain, with the troops already at his disposal and on the way to Melilla, to defeat the Moors if they attack him and to take the offensive. All his plans for so doing are perfect.

Later.—The bey of the Melilla district, it is further learned from the dispatches of Gen. Margelio, has visited that officer, and has asked permission for the Moors to bring provisions into the Melilla fort. The bey desired that the sultan of Morocco would punish the offending tribes.

Gen. Margelio is of the opinion that the real subject of the bey's visit was to ascertain what preparations were being made by Melilla. The preparations to his departure, stated that the chief of all the tribes would assemble at Fajraha Sunday, in order to decide upon peace or war.

The minister of war upon receiving this communication from Gen. Margelio, instructed that commander to reject the false overtures of the bey and to fire upon any Moors invading Spanish territory.

At a cabinet council Sunday it was decided to send a squadron to Algiers, now under command of Capt. G. P. Parham, as first proposed. The warship Gombe Vanadita, however, will go direct to Melilla.

Supplies enough to last 3,000 men for two months have gone to Melilla.

Preachers to Reform Politics.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 9.—The ministers of the various denominations of this city have decided to form a Moral Reformation society, the object of which is to purify politics. Notices were read from every pulpit Sunday requesting the congregation to choose their delegates to represent them at a meeting to be held at the Second Presbyterian church next Tuesday evening.

No Preach Pestilence.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Postmaster General Hissell is expected to devote considerable attention in his annual report to the projected one-cent postal tax. He has said that the introduction of the service is impossible at the present time, owing to the deficit of $3,000,000 that exists in the postal funds in the treasury.

Death in Awful Form.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 8.—At the crossing at Kyle's station on the Big Four road Saturday, Mrs. Foley and her son, two sons, Wm. and Tom, aged to and 12 years respectively, were instantly killed, while Mr. Foley escaped with painful injuries, by a train running down the vehicle in which they were crossing the track.

WE COMMITTED SUICIDE!

The Cause and Its Lesson.

Why did he commit suicide? Oh! for the thousands of thousands of us on the verge of the same sin, or in imminent danger of insanity, paralysis, idiocy, or some other equally unfortunate result of any nervous disease. He knew it well, with a clear consciousness, but was careless, apparently indifferent to the outcome, or he may have lessened his chances for recovery by treating with physicians and by taking no knowledge of his feelings, or by delaying treatment with useless-cess remedies. His case was a sad one, but no worse than that of any other nervous sufferer, who has nerves or sick brain, and who, instead of seeking help, melancholy, failing memory, hot flashes, fainting, sleeplessness, nervous dyspepsia, sexual debility, epilepsy, etc. The same or similar disease may be like unto ours, but we have no knowledge of our feelings, or by delaying treatment with useless-cess remedies.

A CURE FOR INSOMNIA.

The Odd Way in Which a Man Got Rid of His Sleepless Condition—From Insomnia

"I once had a sufferer from insomnia," said a dentist from an inferior village to a New York Tribune man, "but I got rid of the trouble."

"What did you take for it?"

"Buckling pony."

Tell us about that, please."

"It was a bucking pony, nothing the matter with me, only I couldn't sleep. The doctor looked me over and said I wasn't suffering from any disease that he could detect, but all the same I could get no sleep at all. I thought every time I closed my eyes, however, I felt that I would grow gray if such a condition of affairs continued much longer. A wise friend of mine advised me to try horseback exercise. Just at that time a man had brought to the village a string of ponies from the West. Some of them were wild they were offered for sale cheap. I bought one. It was such a sleepy looking animal that we called him Bip Van Winkle. After we knew him better we dropped part of the name and called him Bip. He ran full against the fence opposite the stable and broke several pickets. Then he reared up on his hind legs and came near throwing me over backward. Next I tried to stand on his head, but I found him so stiff that his head and neck turned him around. I started to run then, and I let him go as fast as he could leg it until we got to the Methodist church at the end of the street. A temperance meeting was being held in the church and the door was open. Before I could stop the pony we were in the church and half-way up the aisle. Women screamed and fainted."

"Some of the men led Bip back into the street. I didn't dare get off the saddle. When the pony got to the bridge he began to buck, and for a few minutes I thought my neck would be broken. He would go at a gallop when he went at all, but he would never make a turn to dodge or move back. Presently he stopped his tactics and went from one street to another, across lots, jumping fences, tearing up flower beds, damaging gardeons and keeping me busy dodging the branches of fruit trees. The next street led to a steep bank. Bip spared him for miles until he was covered with foam and nearly tired out. He seemed to be docile when I got him back to the stable. Next day, however, he was nearly as bad as when he rode him. I had to ride for a fortnight to make him ride along the turnpike several miles. My! my! How he did buck! I was so lame at the end of two weeks that I could scarcely walk to my office, but I could walk a few minutes after I got into bed at night. I was sleeping soundly, and I awoke every morning thoroughly refreshed."

"Do you still ride the pony?"
"No. By the time I was cured of sleeplessness I had broken Bip to ride, and not for him was there a rider who paid for him. My advice to anybody who is suffering from insomnia is to get a bucking pony and ride as hard as he can. If no necks are broken both man and pony will be benefited by the treatment."

THOSE INGOTS OF GOLD.

Observations of the Curious While Metal Enters the Subtreasury.

One day recently, when the exportation of gold was at its height and the papers were full of the record made by the recorded "Eighty-Eight on the broad," a large two-horse truck drew up before the subtreasury in Wall street.

Backing up to the curb, a number of ordinary laborers began carelessly to unload a quantity of reddish-brown metal bars, with which the vehicle was burdened. Immediately a crowd gathered and watched the progress of the metal from the truck up the alleyway toward the subtreasury from the United States assay office.

"See those ingots of gold," remarked a down-town merchant to a New York Herald man in passing.

"The bullion must be coming our way."

"To provide for the election by the qualified voters of the City of Mayville, Ky., for the office of Mayor, a Board of Councilmen, a Clerk of the County, a Chief of Police, a Judge of the Police Court, an Assessor, a City Treasurer and the Board of Education of the City of Mayville, Ky.

"In no other country," said he, "could such a thing be done. In England and the countries of continental Europe a regiment of soldiers would be ordered out to protect so great a value."

The crowd listened to him spellbound, and invariably thanked God that there was no show of authority—all except a policeman who, walking up to the throng, which by that time must have numbered one hundred, said:

"Come along, more along. Don't buckle the way. Did you never see men working before?"

The crowd moved away slowly. Those who passed by the front of the truck noticed the words painted on the dashboard—'Buckling pony.' All alone had been wanted. The metal was not gold, but the substance for a new lining in the furnace of the assay office.

Origin of Spoons.
Two natural objects seem to have furnished the model for the spoon to primitive man—the river or sea shell and the leaf of palm or banana tree. Both these spoons are still used that are closely reproduced in the familiar porcelain spoon of that country, while metal spoons are found in India on which are reproduced even the veins of the leaves from which they were copied.
